

Roger Muller

---

Roger Muller has been a SAS user since his days in graduate school at Iowa State University where he earned a Ph.D. in animal science. Following a 30-year career at Eli Lilly and Company where he used SAS in many different capacities in research, development and marketing and wrote 23 books on Lilly/Elanco products, he is now working as an independent consultant doing contract programming, teaching and writing at various companies. Roger's current SAS interests include advancing the use of SAS Enterprise Guide, and he is developing a book on its use.