

Robert Obenchain

Robert (Bob) Obenchain is Principal Consultant for Risk Benefit Statistics LLC, and a Biostatistician / Pharmacoepidemiologist specializing in Observational Comparative Effectiveness Research (OCER), Heterogeneous Treatment Effects (HTE, Personalized / Individualized Medicine) and Risk Assessment - Mitigation Strategies for marketed pharmaceutical products. Bob is a highly skilled technical writer, editor, and mentor as well as a developer of innovative / disruptive statistical methods, computing algorithms and training materials.

Bob holds a B.S. in Engineering – Science from Northwestern University in Evanston, IL, and a Ph.D. in Mathematical Statistics from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.