

Jane Stroupe

After teaching for SAS for 18 years, Jane Stroupe finally retired for a couple of months before going back to teaching SAS classes when needed. She teaches all of the programming curriculum, the macro courses, SQL, and the Scalable Performance Data Server classes. When a full time instructor, she spent non-teaching days developing courses and writing papers that were delivered at SAS Global Forums and at users groups.